

#YourFuture

We are all racing towards the same incredible broad future and for some industries and some topics what that might look like is a bit easier to figure out, but you're not in that category, your future horizon is a little harder to determine, a bit more obscure, a bit niche and a bit left of centre.

Never fear, I love a challenge and a research project (it's the old academic in me and a history of foresight consulting across 140+ industries, over 30+ years) and together we'll figure out what might be ahead for you, your business or your industry.

This one definitely starts with a long chat to work through your topic idea(s), purpose, horizon span, audience and required outcomes and then I'll start the ball rolling at my end with heaps of research, lots of chats with my mates around the world, lots of cage rattling, conversations and pulling in of favours, insights, foresights and educated hunches which will all get blended together and be turned into foresight gold – aka #YourFuture.

So throw me a topic, an industry, a hashtag, a meme, a direction, a trend, or whatever - the more obscure the better and let's figure out what your particular part of a Future World might look like. FCF

all of these can be run as a keynote, a workshop, consolidated into a report, or form the basis of an ongoing program.
